

Friday 9TH.

October 2009

Drugs haul:
Sergeant
Chris Norbury (back) and PC Martin Langan with the cannabis plants

Drug farm raid

By Sarah Kelly

POLICE seized drugs in a village raid.

Officers from the Upper Valley neighbourhood policing team discovered a haul of cannabis plants at a property in High Street, Luddenden Foot on Saturday.

A 24-year-old man was arrested on suspicion of producing a class B drug. A 21-year-old woman was interviewed in connection with the same offence.

The man was bailed pending further inquiries.

Sergeant Chris Norbury, of the team, said: "This is one of several drugs warrants executed in the valley recently due to our determination to act on local information given to us in relation to drugs."

He urged anybody with information in relation to drugs or other crime to contact the police either directly on 0845 6060606 or anonymously through CrimeStoppers on 0800 555 111.

↑ 3 ROSE COTTAGE
NEXT DOOR BUT ONE TO LINDSEYS